Youth, dynamism and experience

Quality of our work and our growth in a selective and changing market, support the commitment to our customers and our value proposition.

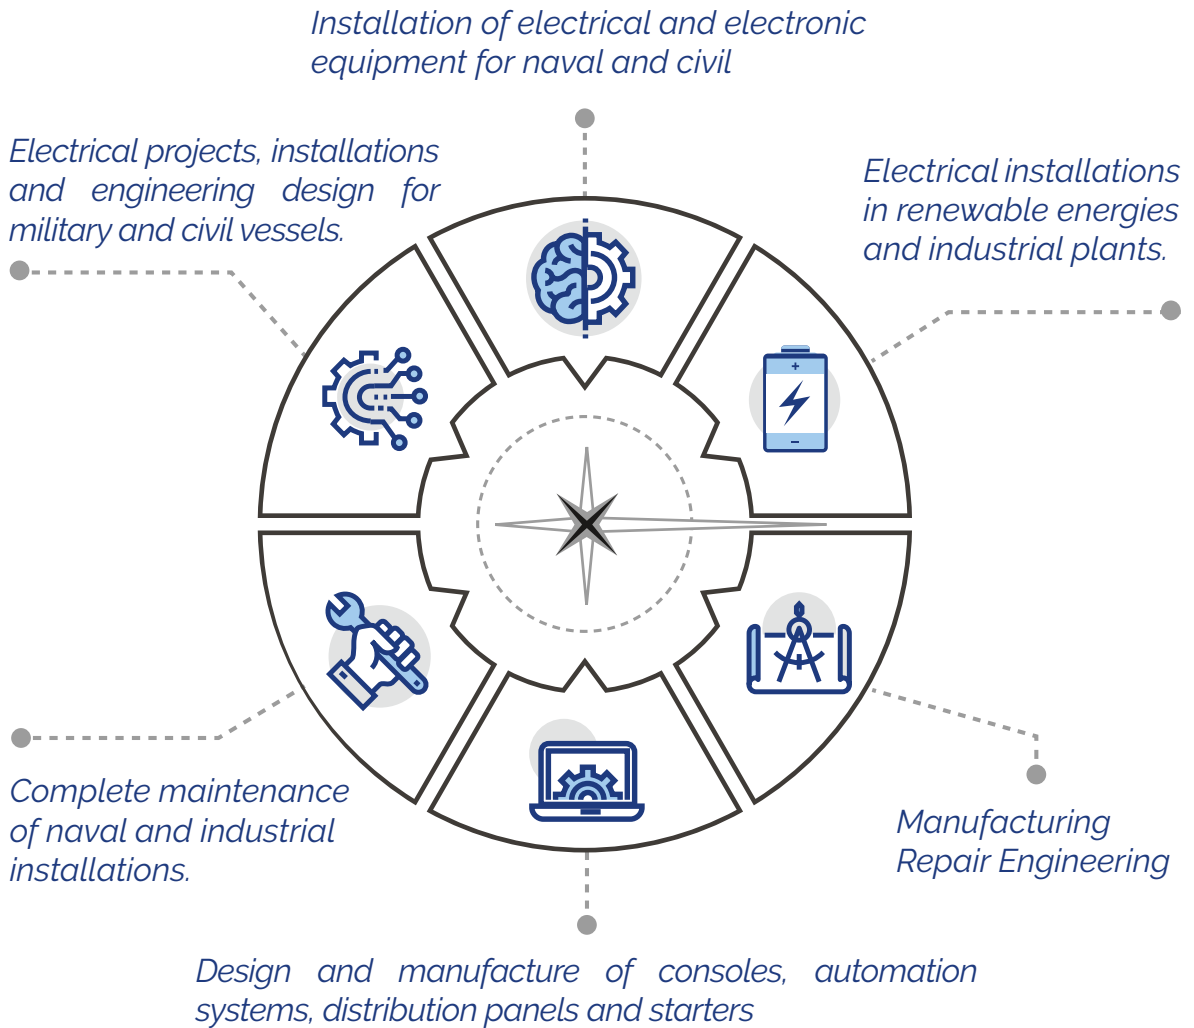

In the current age of globalization and crisis, where software development is travelling at the speed of light, we have dared to make an investment in entrepreneurial talent.

Norinver is a young company, but it capitalizes on the expertise of its managers in the field of advanced electrical assembly and design.

Our Services

We provide value to our customers developing advanced services in design, installation, assembly, maintenance and repair of electrical and electronic systems.

The projects for industries that require high reliability and quality in the operation of their systems are our specialization.
